

Situation:

Yellow has thrown two center guards.
Red has thrown two corner guards.
Yellow has the next shot.

Questions:

Why did yellow throw two center guards?

Are the center guards well-positioned?

Why did red throw two corner guards?

Are the corner guards well-positioned?

From yellow's perspective, which red stones are helping or hurting?

Where is a good spot for yellow's next stone to end up?

Is there a way to move a red stone and put the yellow shooter in a good spot?

Thinking Ahead:

If yellow executes the desired shot, what will red do with their next stone?

